

BRIDLINGTON TOWN COUNCIL MEMBER/OFFICER PROTOCOL POLICY

1.0 Reason for policy

- 1.1 Mutual trust and respect between Councillors and Officers is essential to ensure good governance and the effective running of a council. To help ensure that relationships do not go awry, it is advisable to have a written protocol, which can cover the respective roles and responsibilities of the Councillors and the Officers; the relationships between Councillors and Officers; how concerns should be raised; and who is responsible for making decisions.
- 1.2 The same fundamental principles apply regardless of the nature and size of a council.
- 1.3 This protocol is intended to assist Councillors and Officers, in approaching some of the sensitive circumstances which arise in a challenging working environment.
- 1.4 The reputation and integrity of the council is significantly influenced by the effectiveness of Councillors, Officers and other staff working together to support each other's roles.
- 1.5 The aim is effective and professional working relationships characterised by mutual trust, respect and courtesy. Close personal familiarity should be avoided.

2.0 Respective roles

- 2.1 The respective roles of Councillors and employees can be summarised as follows:

Councillors and Officers are servants of the public and they are indispensable to one and other, but their responsibilities are distinct. Councillors are responsible to the electorate and serve only so long as their term of office lasts. Officers are responsible to the council. Their job is to give advice to Councillors and to the council, and to carry out the council's work under the direction and control of the council and relevant committees.

3.0 Councillors

- 3.1 Councillors have four main areas of responsibility:
  - To determine council policy and provide community leadership;
  - To monitor and review council performance in delivering services;
  - To represent the council externally; and
  - To act as advocates for their constituents.
- 3.2 All Councillors have the same rights and obligations in their relationship with the Officers and other employees, regardless of their status or political party, and should be treated equally.
- 3.3 Councillors should not involve themselves in the day to day running of the Council. This is the Officer's responsibility, and they will be acting on instructions from the Council or its Committees, within an agreed job description.
- 3.4 Committee Chairs and Vice-Chairs have additional responsibilities. These responsibilities mean that their relationships with employees may be different and more complex than those of other Councillors. However, they must still respect the impartiality of Officers and must not ask them to undertake work of a party political nature, or to do anything which would prejudice their impartiality.

4.0 Officers

4.1 The role of Officers is to give advice and information to Councillors and to implement the policies determined by the Council.

4.2 In giving such advice to Councillors, and in preparing and presenting reports, it is the responsibility of the Officer to express his/her own professional views and recommendations. An Officer may report the views of individual Councillors on an issue, but the recommendation should be the Officer's own. If a Councillor wishes to express a contrary view they should not pressurise the officer to make a recommendation contrary to the officer's professional view, nor victimise an officer for discharging his/her responsibilities.

5.0 Respective expectations

5.1 All Councillors can expect:

- a commitment from Officers to the Council as a whole, and not to any individual Councillor, group of Councillor's or political group;
- a working partnership;
- Officers to understand and support respective roles, workloads and pressures;
- A timely response from Officers to enquiries and complaints;
- Officer's professional advice, not influenced by political views or personal preferences;
- regular, up to date, information on matters that can reasonably be considered appropriate and relevant to their needs, having regard to any individual responsibilities or positions that they hold;
- Officers to be aware of and sensitive to the public and political environment locally;
- Respect, courtesy, integrity and appropriate confidentiality from Officers;
- training and development opportunities to help them carry out their role effectively;
- not to have personal issues raised with them by Officers outside the council's agreed procedures;
- that Officers will not use their contact with Councillors to advance their personal interests or to influence decisions improperly;
- that Officers will at all times comply with the relevant code of conduct.

5.2 Officers can expect from Councillors:

- a working partnership;
- an understanding of, and support for, respective roles, workloads and pressures;
- leadership and direction;
- respect, courtesy, integrity and appropriate confidentiality;
- not to be bullied or to be put under undue pressure;
- that Councillors will not use their position or relationship with officers to advance their personal interests or those of others or to influence decisions improperly;
- that Councillors will at all times comply with the council's adopted Code of Conduct.

5.3 Some General Principles:

- Close personal relationships between Councillors and Officers can confuse their separate roles and get in the way of the proper conduct of Council business, not least by creating a perception in others that a particular Councillor or Officer is getting preferential treatment.

- Special relationships with particular individuals or party political groups should be avoided as it can create suspicion that an employee favours that Councillor or political group above others.

6.0 Political Groups

- 6.1 The operation of political groups is becoming more of a feature within parish councils. Councillors are elected to serve their community and should ensure that is the guiding principle by which decisions are made. Party politics within a parish or town council can pose particular difficulties for employees in terms accountability. The council remains the employer and staff, via the management structure, are answerable to the council as a whole.
- 6.2 Party political groups have no power to require an employee to attend group meetings or to prepare written reports for them, and employees can legitimately refuse to do so. The Officers are responsible to the Council as a whole and should not take action under instructions from any individual Councillor, even if he/she has been styled as 'Leader' of the Council.
- 6.3 If your council has adopted party political groupings, Officers should ensure that any reports or advice offered to a political group are statements of relevant facts, with an appraisal of options and do not deal with the political implications of the matter or options, or make any recommendations. It is not an Officers role to make recommendations to a political group.
- 6.4 If a report is prepared for one political group, the Officer should advise all other political groups that the report has been prepared, or that advice was given.
- 6.5 Any Officer needing advice or guidance on matters relating to party groups or how to operate within a political environment, can seek advice from the County Association.

7.0 Problem areas

- 7.1 From time to time the relationship between Councillors and employees may break down or become strained. Whilst it is always preferable to resolve matters informally, through conciliation by an appropriate third party, it is important that the council adopts a formal complaints procedure.
- 7.2 If a Councillor is dissatisfied with the conduct, behaviour or performance of a Town Council employee, the matter should be raised in the first instance with the Clerk (if it applies to another member of staff) or the Chair of the Staffing Committee (if it applies to the Clerk). If a Member of staff is dissatisfied with the conduct, behaviour of performance of Town Councillors the matter should be raised in the first instance with the Clerk or the Mayor or the Chair of the Staffing Committee (if it applies to the Mayor).
- 7.3 If the matter cannot be resolved informally the matter must be referred under the Code of Conduct to the Monitoring Officer at the principal authority. These matters cannot now be addressed internally.
- 7.4 Further advice is available from the ERNLLCA office.
